

Improve Financial Performance Across Complex Care Environments

Reduce strain across facilities, systems, and workflows

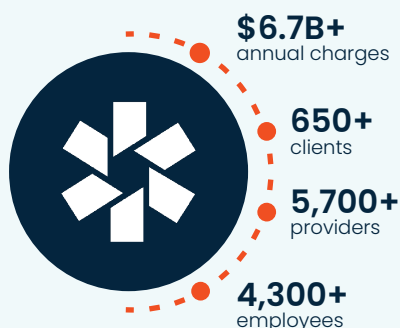

Hospital-based physician groups often operate across multiple hospitals, health systems, and care settings, each with its own workflows, documentation standards, payer requirements, and operational handoffs. When those differences are not managed consistently, issues can move downstream quickly.

The result is familiar: delayed charges, more denials, slower reimbursement, and revenue that is harder to track, explain, and collect.

How we help

Health Prime provides mid- and back-end revenue cycle services for specialties such as radiology, pathology, and anesthesia. Specifically, we manage operational work including coding, charge capture, claims, denials, and A/R follow-up. This day-to-day support enables us to identify where issues start, where they repeat, and where better execution can improve results.

We use these insights to reduce variation, strengthen operational execution, and address the root causes behind revenue cycle breakdowns, helping improve reimbursement outcomes and financial performance.

Built to support complex environments

We provide hospital-based physician groups with flexible support that can scale with volume, accommodate specialty-specific workflows, and adapt to changing staffing demands. Some organizations require work to stay onshore. Others are looking for flexible staffing models to manage cost and capacity. We support both.

Our model combines U.S.-based, near-shore, and global teams to give you options in how work gets done. You choose the approach that fits your operational, regulatory, and financial needs without sacrificing performance.

We pair this operational scale with consistent service delivery and strong data security practices to support your evolving needs.

Results you can expect

Faster
resolution of
coding, denial,
and A/R issues

Improved
reimbursement and fewer preventable
revenue delays

Consistent
execution across facilities and systems

Greater insight into revenue cycle
performance

Health Prime improves reimbursement outcomes through revenue cycle expertise, actionable insights, and consistent day-to-day execution. Contact us today at hpiinc.com.